

It's college scholarship application season

From Education Update, Oregon Department of Education, December 2014

Students planning to attend college next year and who are wondering how to pay for their education can apply for a scholarship administered by the Oregon Office of Student Access and Completion (OSAC).

OSAC administers private scholarship programs that cover a range of student characteristics and interests, such as high school attended, residency, college major, career choice and more.

Funding for these scholarships comes from individuals, employers, membership organizations, professional associations and foundations, such as the Oregon Community Foundation and the Ford Family Foundation.

Oregon students also are encouraged to complete and submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) by Jan. 31. This determines eligibility for federal and state financial aid, including the Oregon Opportunity Grant, the state's need-based student aid program.

The deadline to submit the OSAC online scholarship application is March 1, 2015.
