 SUNDAY CLOSING.

The question of keeping the world's fair open on Sunday has settled itself. The American people absolutely refuse to assent to a desecration of the Sabbath, hence the fair directors have concluded to close the gates on that day. It has been so much better that policy in the past, and their failure to do so is a world's fair director's mistake and has done the exact opposite of what he intended. It has been so much better that policy in the past, and their failure to do so is a world's fair director's mistake and has done the exact opposite of what he intended. The Oregonian, says there is plenty of money in the country, and yet in the same issue it tells us this: Laborers, who work for wages do not know when they are well off. The man who owns property, pays taxes, owes money, employs labor and has to keep his business going, is scarcely an object of envy now. On the contrary, most men of this class may well envy the peace and repose of their neighbors who are so fortunate as to be clear of the difficulties that beset themselves. There is no set of men who have things all their own way in this world. But we would like to ask the Oregonian, why it always champions the rich? and was it ever known to champion the poor? look at it on the Chinese question; look at its gold bug policy. Ably edited, it undoubtedly is, as any paper on this coast; yet serving in its very ability to mislead the people. And now when the gold bug ring begins to pinch it, it envies the laboring man. Of course we all have our theories, and we are not advocating any party doctrine, but we believe that it is about time the Oregonian came more in touch with the people.

Denver Col., July 21.—It is thought here that all the suspended banks can soon resume, with one exception.

Kansas City, July 14.—Just before closing hours the Kansas City National bank, of Kansas City, suspended and a notice was placed in the window stating that it had been placed in the hands of receivers. The bank's capital is $7,000,000. It is impossible to get figures or facts now. Considerable excitement was caused by the suspension as it was entirely unexpected. Its president is J. S. Chick, one of the best known financiers in the West.

The area of the United States, exclusive of Alaska, is 3,090,000 square miles. Over 100 surveyors are now employed in surveying and preparing maps of the country, and about one fifth of the whole area has already been surveyed during the 20 years in which the work has been in progress. About 60,200 square miles are annually surveyed, and it is estimated that it will require 40 years more to complete the map.

Attorney-General Hendrick, of Kentucky, prides himself on the fact that he rose from a farm laborer to his present place of dignity and honor. He was telling some friends in Frankfort the other day of his early struggles and called in a negro who was passing to attest the veracity of his statements. "Brother Bradley," said he, "is an old-fashioned blue-gummed negro and a boyhood friend of mine, by whose side I have worked many a day in the corn-field. Wasn't I a good man in the corn-field, Brother Bradley?" "Oh, yes, sah," said the darky, "you was a good man for a fact, put yot suttinly didn't work much."

An Arkansas editor puts it thus: "You may hivy all the stars in a nail keg, hang the ocean on a rail to dry, put the sky in a gourd to soak, unbuckle the bellyband of eternity and let out the sun and moon, but never delude yourself with the idea that you can escape that place on the other side of purgatory unless you pay the printer."

Here in Salem, American laboring men are digging ditch and performing other equally as hard labor ten hours a day for a dollar and a half. There are one hundred men in the city who would gladly work for the same wages if opportunity offered, but work is scarce even at this price. We boast a great deal about our civilization, education and independence, but just how a man is to raise and educate a family on nine dollars a week six months in the year and on nothing the other six months is one of the unsolved mysteries of life. Apropos of this, we love to hear some old fellow who has got rich by penury and usury, sit on a dry goods box and tell how he made a fortune working for four bits a day.—Independent.

More than fifty years ago Carlyle wrote: "The republic west of us will have its trial period; its darkest of all hours. It is traveling the high road to the direful day. And this scourge will not come amid famine's horrid stride, nor will it come by ordinary punitive judgments. It will come as a hiatus in statecraft, a murderous bungle in policy. It will be when health is intact, crops abundant and the munificent hand open. Then so-called statesman will cry over-production, the people will go to the ballot box amid hunger and destitution, but surrounded by the glitter of self rule, and ratify by their ballots the monstrous falsehood, over-production, uttered by misstatesmen and vindicated by the same ballot the infamous lie over-production, thrown upon the breeze by servile editors through a corrupt press. And thus bring ruin upon his country, serfdom upon himself and oppression upon his children.—Es.

The Statesman says it takes off its hat to the hog; well, it need not have published it as we have been aware of that fact for some time.

Baker City, July 17.—A fabulously rich bed of gold was yesterday discovered. It was found at the bottom of a 350 foot shaft in the Virtue mine near this city. The water was all pumped out and an almost solid streak of gold eight inches wide was revealed. Two miners took out two sacks of ore worth $10,000. One specimen weighing eight pounds, contains $500.

ESTRAY NOTICE.
 Taken up and duly posted by Mrs. S. A. Downing, three miles east of Sublimity, Oregon, three four year old steers, one of a black or bluish and white pie-bald color, one red and white and one red. All marked with swallow fork in each ear and branded "10" on left hip, and are brassy.
 Appraised by the undersigned at $15 each, June 25, 1893.
 G. W. FOWELL, Justice of the Peace.

DIED.
 SCHELLBERG.—At his residence near Mehama, Ore., on Saturday at 9 P. M., July 15, 1893, August Schellberg, in his 88th year.
 The deceased was born in Wernigey, Prussia, in the province of Saxony in Germany, on the 28th day of Jan., 1806, emigrated to America when 19 years of age. Married to Margaret Trainor in the town of Russel, state of Wisconsin, on the 9th day of May, 1856. Served as a soldier in the war of the Rebellion. Emigrated to Oregon in November, 1873. Was a member of the Oregon legislature in 1878. He leaves a wife, daughter, and seven sons to mourn his loss. He was buried in the Stayton cemetery under the auspices of the G. A. R. of which he was a member. A large number of friends attended the funeral.

THE COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE AND THE STAYTON TIMES.
 BOTH FOR $2.25 PER YEAR.
 THE GREAT ILLUSTRATED MONTHLIES have in the past sold for $4.00 a year. It was a wonder to readers how The Cosmopolitan, with its yearly 1200 pages of reading matter by the greatest writers of the world, and its 1800 illustrations by clever artists, could be furnished for $3.00 a year. In January last it put in the most perfect magazine printing plant in the world, and now comes what is really a wonder. We will cut the price of the magazine and paper in half for you! Think of it, 128 pages of reading matter, with over 120 illustrations—a volume that would sell in cloth binding at $1.00 FOR ONLY 18 1/2 CENTS.
 We will send you THE COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE, which has the strongest staff of regular contributors of any existing periodical, and The Weekly TIMES, BOTH FOR ONLY $2.25 A YEAR.
 Remember, this offer is good only for the next 30 days.
