GOOD ROADS

ROADS PAY FOR THEMSELVES

Hard-Surfaced Highways Effect Big Saving in Maintenance and Gasoline Costs.

Tests made in many states to determine the actual cost of paved roads have shown that hard-surfaced highways effect such big savings in maintenance and gasoline costs that they pay for themselves in from 10 to 15 years.

The estimates were reached only after careful checking of first cost as against traffic, comparative maintenance on other type roads and exact experiments on the resistance on dirt ferent road surfaces to motor vehicles from which the saving in gasoline is evolved.

Fred R. White, chief engineer of the Iowa state highway commission, in a statement issued recently said: "Highway traffic has outgrown the road. This is not the fault of the country engineer, supervisor or highway commission. It will do no good to fire the engineer, supervisors or highway commission. New men will be just as ignorant and still have the same problems to solve."

"Iowa, in highway matters, is in the position of the boy who has outgrown his clothes. It isn't his fault. It will do no good to scold or abuse him. The remedy is to get him a new and larger suit and also make allowance for his continued growth."

GOOD ROADS LENGTHEN LIFE

Prior to Construction of Improved Highways Farmers Led Comparatively Isolated Lives.

Anything which contributes to the physical or mental well-being of the individual helps to prevent disease to reduce disability and to lengthen life. Prior to the development of the automobile, and the building of our good roads, most of the inhabitants of our rural districts led comparatively isolated lives. The difficulty met in getting about the country, and the strenuousness of farm work, kept most of the farmers, their families, and their employees, tied down to the farm the greater part of the year. As a result of the monotony and constant toil, men and women exhausted their strength and energy early, became prematurely old, and were often incapacitated through lack of proper recreation and relaxation.

ROADS IN NATIONAL FORESTS

Government Has Appropriated $34,542,062 for Building Highways and Trails.

A total of $34,542,062 has been appropriated by the government to the states for roads and trails within or adjacent to the national forests. Total expenditures of federal and co-operative funds amounting to $22,210,724 have already been disbursed. To date, 4,780 miles of roads and 6,711 miles of trails have been constructed and 8,744 miles of road and trail have been repaired and improved, says the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture.

GOOD ROADS BUILT IN 1922

Total of 28,000 Miles Constructed Last Year—Half of It With Federal Aid.

A total of 28,000 miles of good roads was built in the United States last year, or a distance equal to ten times the width of the country. Half of this mileage has been built by the state governments in conjunction with federal aid. The remaining 14,000 miles were constructed independently of federal assistance.

MILK CONSUMED ON FARMS

Value Nearly Equal to That of Product Sold, According to Estimates of Department.

The value of milk consumed on farms in 1922 was nearly equal to the value of the milk sold, according to estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture. The farm value of milk sold is estimated at $722,000,000 and of milk consumed on farms at $636,000,000.

Protein is Lacking. Cows that receive only timothy hay, corn fodder, beet pulp, roots, corn and barley do not produce to their capacity because they are not getting enough protein.

Stall is Essential. To stable cows comfortably, a properly arranged and constructed stall is essential.

Use Only Best Bull. Today, tomorrow and forever, use only the best bull you can find.

POULTRY

GEESSE MOST PECULIAR FOWL

Chinese Breed Much Different From Others as Gander Will Mate With Several Females.

Of all our domestic fowls, geese are the most peculiar of all of them in several ways. With the wild or Canadian breed it is customary for one gander or male to mate with only one female, occasionally with two, but this is somewhat rare.

The Chinese breed is much different from any of the others, inasmuch as one gander will frequently mate with five or six females, and commonly with four or more, while the Toulouse, Emden and African usually mate with a single female or in pairs or occasionally with two females, thus comprising a trio.

Egyptian and Canadian Ganders will not breed until they are two years old. While most yearlings of other breeds have breeding ability they are not often used, as they are at their best from three to five years of age, and can then be kept from three to five years for breeding purposes, or until seven or eight years of age in most cases. Many Ganders and females are good breeders at ten years of age and in extreme instances, Ganders twenty years of age have been known. Geese are much longer lived than any other of our domestic fowls.

It is a common practice to mate old females with young Ganders and old Ganders with young females.

Matings with geese are often permanent unless changed by the breeder, and for this reason any matings that are to be changed should be changed in the fall so that several months may elapse before the breeding season. Ganders are very savage during the breeding season, and for that reason it is best to keep each mating penned to itself to prevent the Ganders injuring each other.

YOUNG POULTS RELISH CURD

Addition of Few Onion Tops Chopped Fine is Recommended—Much Danger of Overfeeding.

There is no better feed for the young poults than sour curd into which has been placed a few onion tops chopped fine. Rolled oats will also be relished. There is danger of overfeeding at the start. Better not feed them anything for 24 hours after they are hatched. The yolk of the egg will then be absorbed from the system and food more easily digested.

POULTRY NOTES

Fat hens seldom have roop.

Turkey eggs can be hatched under hens.

Limiting the protein or beef scrap in the ration will retard egg production.

Sodium fluoride is a most effective lice powder. It is inexpensive, easily applied, and will get the lice.

Few eggs result when hens are allowed to eat their grain from the bare floor in lazy content. All grain should be scattered in deep litter for this purpose.

The division of publications, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., has an excellent bulletin on turkeys which can be had for the asking.

How to get the most from your eggs: Grade them properly and ship them to a reliable dealer.

The use of the colony brooder method of rearing chicks insures the raising of healthy chicks with the least work necessary.

Goose eggs may be lacking in fertility because of an unsatisfactory gander. In such cases a new gander may be the remedy. It pays to mate geese in the fall, as later matings may not produce fertile eggs the first year.

In building poultry houses, from two to five square feet of floor space should be allowed for each bird.

Many professional poultrymen do not wait until chickens are sick to dose them with epsom salts. Instead, they give the salts as a preventive.

Hardly any farm can afford to keep less than 150 hens, and some ought to keep 500, poultry experts say. You have to do a certain amount of work, anyway, and 200 hens aren't twice as much trouble as 100, by any means.

Lincoln vs. You

Lincoln belongs to the ages. He was a man among men and his world today recognizes his genius of character.

Lincoln was self-taught. Instead of waiting for someone to sound knowledge into him, he would walk miles to secure a book that he might pursue the quest of knowledge which was his supreme passion with him throughout his life.

Lincoln instinctively knew that knowledge was the key that unlocks the door to fame and fortune in any career that man desires. He went directly after knowledge to prepare himself so that when his chance came he would be ready.

You may look handsomer than Lincoln; you may have more native strength than Lincoln; you may have an intellect that could easily be developed; but if you have not the burning desire to develop yourself, you are certain to atrophy in the mud-sock class.

Knowledge is distinctly a matter of inclination. If you do not secure knowledge you are just as certain to suffer for your lack of development in a mental way as you would certainly suffer physically if you laid in bed all the time and would neglect to develop your muscles. Laziness leads to pain and failure. If you insist on being lazy, the law of compensation will force you to pay around interest for your idleness. You will be whipped and scourged and made to do the meanest work of the world. The hard laws of necessity are sure to overtake you. You must take people who insist that you earn what you eat. The whip of necessity will beat your bleeding back and the sharp tongue of people will insist that you stretch your sensibilities. When you are stretched on the cross of necessity, people of this world will crown you with thorns and drive into your flesh, nails expressing their scorn.

Lincoln knew that the world will never forgive failure. Logically he equipped himself to succeed and he did succeed. You, too, can succeed, but you must prepare yourself for the battle of life.

The greatest asset in life is a strong character and the ability to express yourself. If you are dumb as a dog you will receive the reward of a dog, the crumbs from some rich man's table, who understands the way to express himself.

The great mass of men have made no effort to develop themselves. Nearly all are capable of infinite development, but they do not realize it. They are paralyzed by the fear of the world which interferes in reality the only difference between a successful man and himself is development.

You could easily grow if they would get busy and develop themselves as Lincoln and other great men have done.

You do not have to be a super-man or a giant of intellect, but you do have to be just a little better than the average to be selected to occupy a seat of honor and ease where you will work less and get more.

If you simply develop the stiff back of a jack-ass and the physical strength of a mule you will naturally be paid for brute strength and nothing more, because that is all your equipment will enable you to render in doing this work of the world. Lincoln wisely learned to talk convincingly.

We are offering Dr. Frederick Houk Law's course on "Mastery of Speech," which will quickly develop your ability to express yourself effectively.

The good talker, you have noticed, is the fellow who gets in the lead every time.

Dr. Frederick Houk Law, of Oxford Academy, Amherst College, and Brown University, holding the degree of A. B., M. A. and Ph. D., has prepared a course entitled "Mastery of Speech," that is not only simple but exceedingly interesting. By following the instructions he gives, it is possible for anybody to become a convincing talker. Probably not a Demosthenes, but a rattling good, entertaining speaker.

Do not delay. Cut off this coupon today and send it in without any money, and we will send you this course for $1.50. Settle with the postman when he delivers it.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

EVERY INCH A TROOP

One hundred scouts at the Westfield (Mass.) Sanitarium for Tuberculosis compose Troop 4, which has the distinction of functioning as a troop 24 hours a day, the boys eating, sleeping, working and playing together as a unit. These lads march to their meals; on patriotic occasions they carry the flag to the sound of music. They go to school a few hours each day, but the greater part of their time is consumed in out-of-door activities in which scoutcraft plays a vital and most interesting part. The troop sleeps in the open in a shelter especially made for the boys by the men patients.

As to the twelfth law, "A scout is reverent"—these boys say their prayers in common morning and night. The boys kneel together and remain kneeling until each group, Protestant, Catholic and Jew, has recited its devotions. Three chaplains, representing the three faiths mentioned, are in attendance at the sanitarium.

As to the eighth law, "A scout is cheerful; he smiles whenever he can"—these boys have become famous in the institution for their pluck and spirit of happiness. In the words of one of the chaplains, "Nearly every child at the sanitarium is cured, but we have had two deaths within the past few months. Both boys who died were members of Troop 4, and to the end each played his part 'every inch a scout.' Their cheerfulness throughout their illness was so marked that the other patients would come in not only to visit the boys, but to bolster up their own grit and courage."

The boys have built a dam on the grounds to bank water in a swimming pool. Only a few of the stronger boys, however, are allowed to undertake swimming. In basketry, Troop 4 is extremely skillful. In 1921 at the Eastern States' exposition, the boys received a blue ribbon in recognition of the excellence of their work. The scouts' good turns are often manifested in their thoughtfulness for one another. For instance, these boys are much devoted to papers containing scout news. When such papers arrive, the scouts make a grand rush for this section, but the boys always pass it first to anyone of their number who happens that day to be confined to bed. A passerby can see the boys eagerly going over the items, and hear such a remark as, "Look here! I see what these fellows are doing!"

"Although these boys can never become first-class scouts in actual rank," continues the chaplain, "for the rules of the doctor forbid their taking hikes or attempting scouts' pace, etc., in true scout spirit they can reach the top. In their work, the boys like to keep in mind this thought on how to play the game:

"For when the One Great Scorer comes To write against your name, He'll write not what you've lost or won, But how you played the game."
